CVE-2012-1856 - Score: 8.8

Components:

    microsoft office 2007
    microsoft sql server 2000
    microsoft office 2003
    microsoft sql server 2005
   microsoft visual foxpro 8.0
    microsoft commerce server 2002
    microsoft visual foxpro 9.0
    microsoft office 2010
    microsoft sql server 2008
    microsoft host integration server 2004
    microsoft commerce server 2007
    microsoft visual basic 6.0
    microsoft commerce server 2009
    microsoft office web components 2003

Description:

The TabStrip ActiveX control in the Common Controls in MSCOMCTL.OCX in Microsoft Office 2003 SP3, Office 2003 Web Components SP3, Office 2007 SP2 and SP3, Office 2010 SP1, SQL Server 2000 SP4, SQL Server 2005 SP4, SQL Server 2008 SP2, SP3, R2, R2 SP1, and R2 SP2, Commerce Server 2002 SP4, Commerce Server 2007 SP2, Commerce Server 2009 Gold and R2, Host Integration Server 2004
    SP1, Visual FoxPro 8.0 SP1, Visual FoxPro 9.0 SP2, and Visual Basic 6.0 Runtime allows remote attackers to execute arbitrary code via a crafted (1) document or (2) web page that triggers system-state corruption, aka "MSCOMCTL.OCX RCE Vulnerability."

Main problems:

    -1 no CWE Description available